
DECORATIVE CEILING BEAMS

Decorative ceiling beams can be one of the most custom designs elements in any home. They add character & charm to any room. Box beams are a false timber, they weigh considerably less than solid timbers & are not structural, they are decorative only. This makes them perfect for any application in new or existing homes. As a custom home builder I started making box beams to give me flexibility in size to fit the scale of any room. Box beams also allow me to choose from a variety of species of wood, while preserving our natural resources. I will design, build and install box beams to suit the style of any home.
